

PHOSPHONIC

PHOSPHONIC

Every BAND has a STORY, PHOSPHONIC's brand of indie-emo rock began as Joel (from USA, top center), Ben (Swiss, top L) and Phil's (Swiss, top R) former groups: BLD and Gravatron were coming to an end. Having toured in over 10 nations across North America and Europe before PHOSPHONIC began, they decided to do something new.

Musically, PHOSPHONIC combines the echoing of tube amps pushed beyond saturation, vocal chords being stretched to the limit, deep bass grooves passing from crystal clean to all out walls of distortion and the pounding precision of over-sized drums.

Soon after its conception, the trio found a spiritual common ground that is expressed in the band's name, a combination of the Greek word Phos (light) and the Latin word Phonic (sound).

Three years down the road, we find the band with an explosive debut album, quite a few more concerts under their belts and an indie record contract with distribution around Europe.

The upcoming tour promises to be quite a ride... Get onboard now!

Recorded by David Grillon and Pascal DesHayes at the Studio du Flon in Lausanne and mixed at the legendary Greenwood Studios (home to mixes of Aerosmith, Gotthard, etc.), PHOSPHONIC'S first offering boasts a generous 14 track / 1 hour playlist.

"1" features fast paced rock tunes like #3 - HEARTBEAT as well as more melodious and melancholic trips like #8 - RANSOM REVELATION and #10 - BEFORE YOU. Additional musicians on violin, cello and rhodes provide a melodic backdrop on 6 tracks.

PHOSPHONIC doesn't play by the rules... at least not the commercial ones.

Instead of simply selling cd's for the going rate, they decided to give away one cd for every CD sold. Buy one for a friend - they give you one to keep. Get it? Good.
